Dear Karen:

I am very pleased to acknowledge the tremendous growth and effectiveness that TECH CORPS has attained as you celebrate five years of valuable contributions to the technology education of our nation's youth.

We at NASSP recognize just how important the activities of TECH CORPS have been, and continue to be, for schools and educators throughout the country. Your efforts to place technology volunteers into schools, as well as the valuable programs such as webTeacher and techs4schools which you have implemented to bring the power of technology and the internet into schools, are making a significant impact on the effectiveness of technology education.

Our vision for NASSP includes supporting the efforts of School Leaders to integrate technology into their education programs and TECH CORPS can certainly provide the needed tools to enable successful implementations. Where appropriate, we will support and promote the work of TECH CORPS and help contribute to an environment where your volunteers and programs are welcome and can flourish in every high school in America.

Thank you for the work you do and we wish TECH CORPS continued success as you expand your services and programs. NASSP is proud to recognize your efforts to assist young people, their teachers, and their schools.

Sincerely,

Gerald N. Tirozzi, PhD
Executive Director
